

I have received many loud protests that I wasted so much space on my printed Christmas Card this year with Christian references to the coming of the Christ that I did not leave room for photographs of the cat.

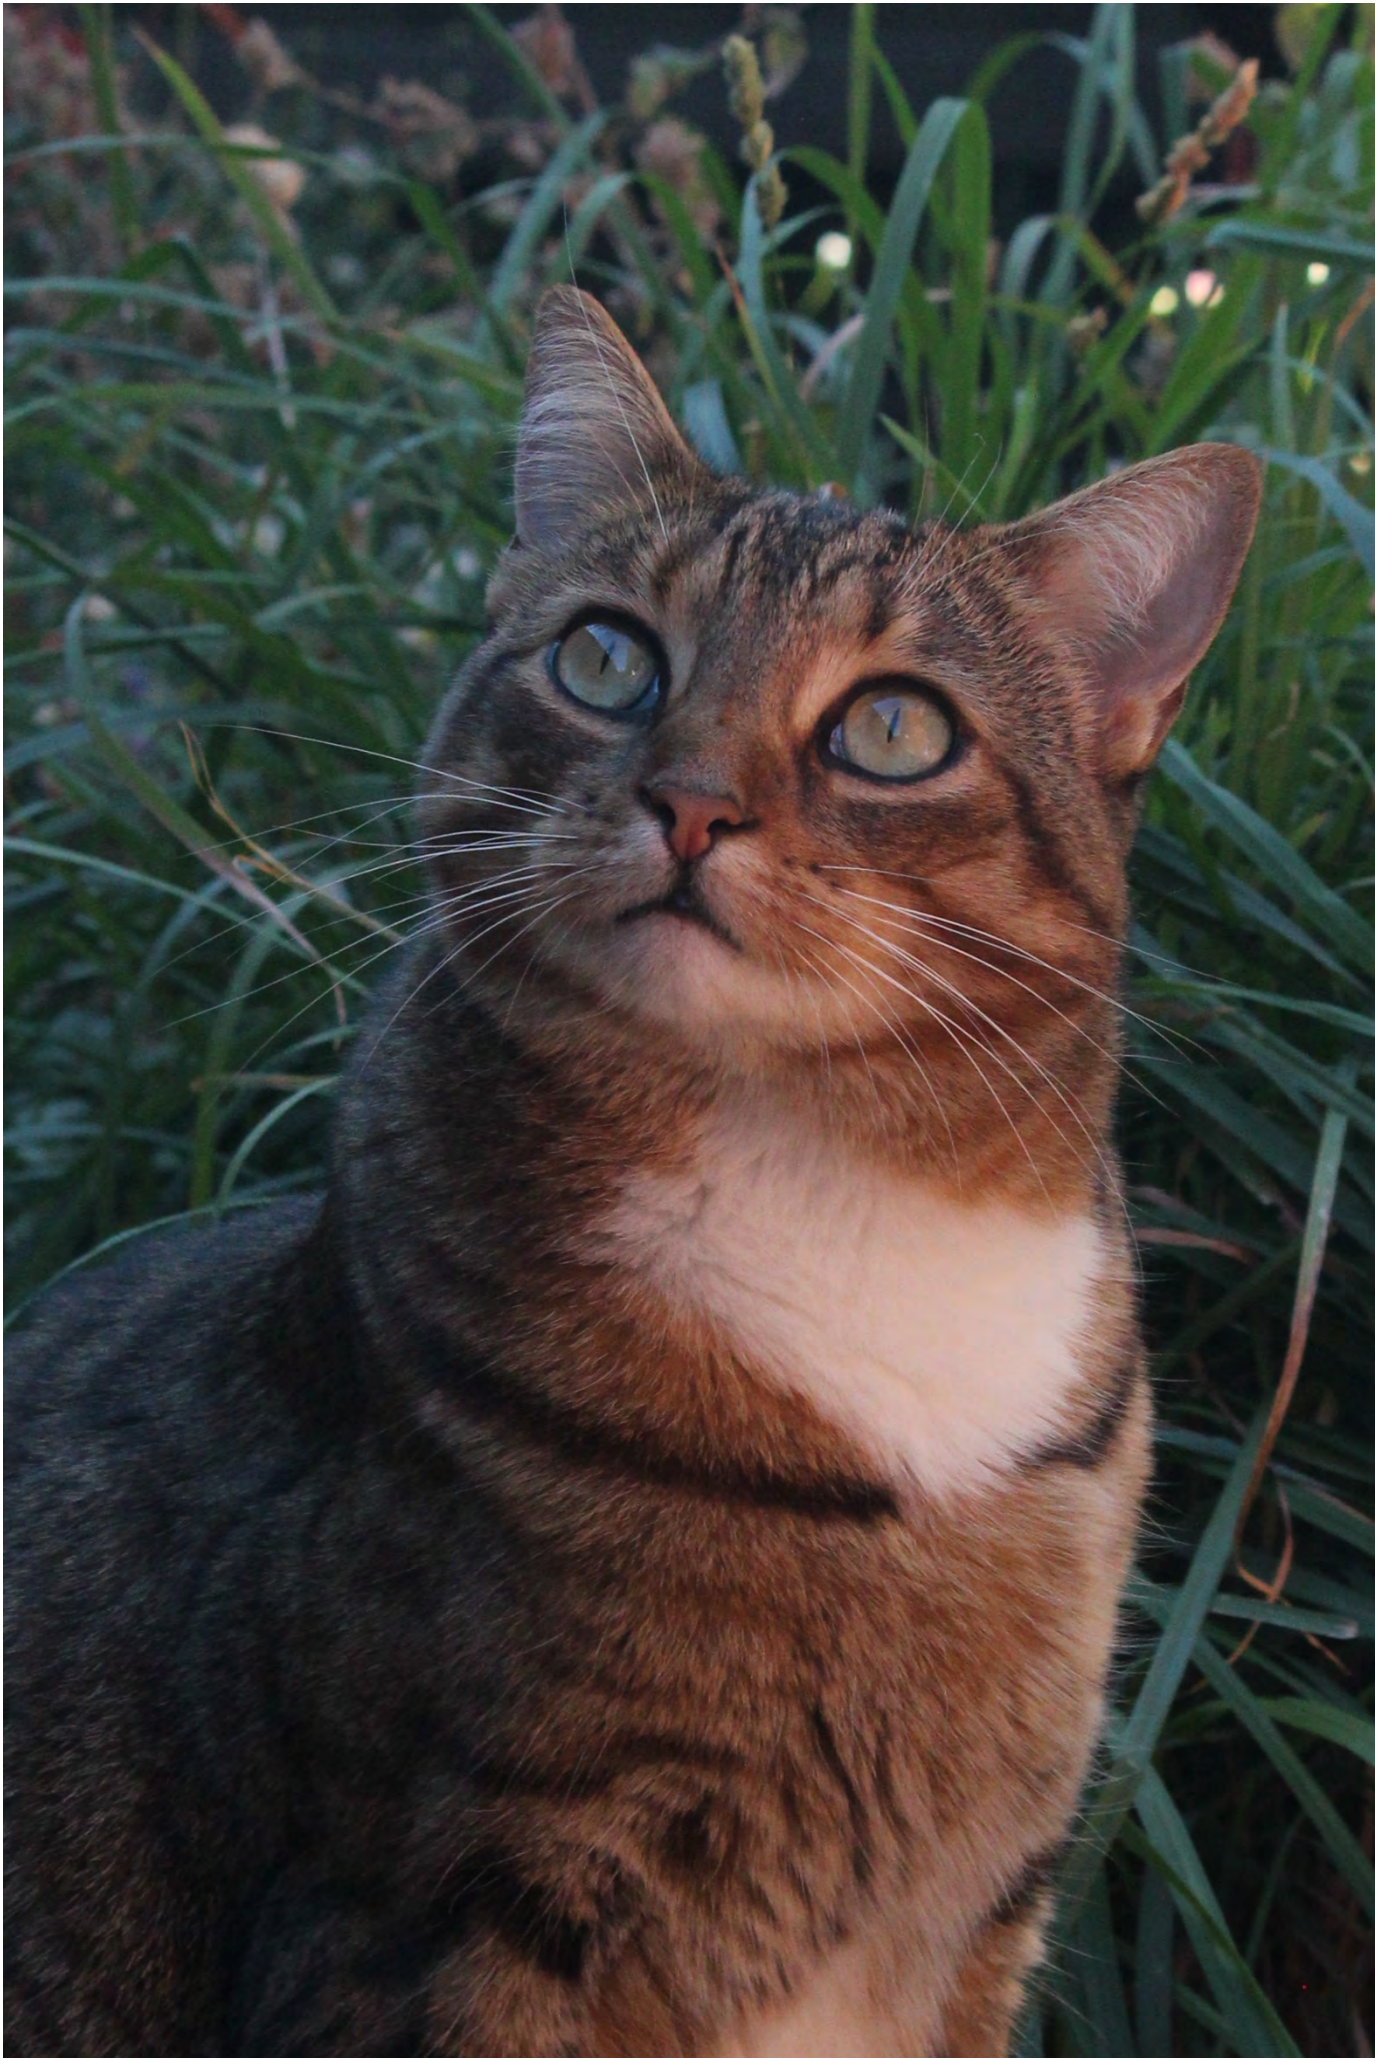

Evidence of my transgression:-

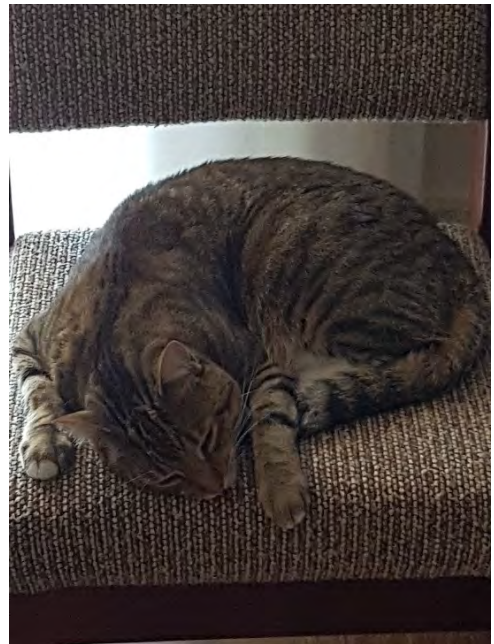

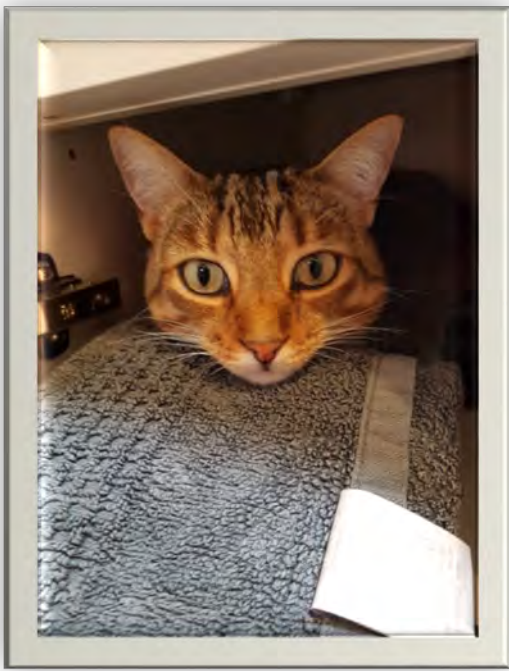

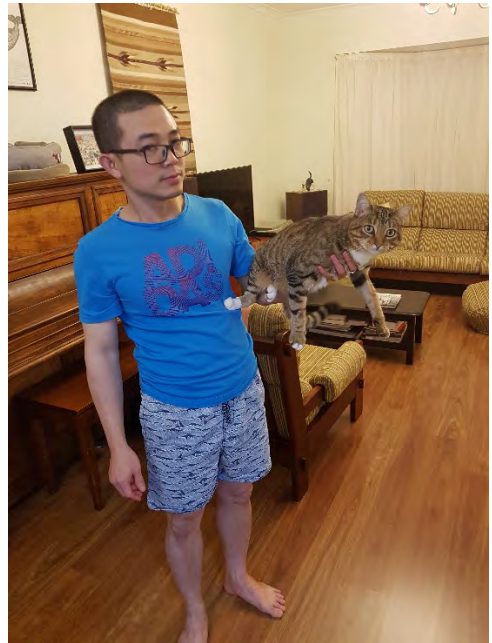

To make amends to those of my subscribers who were offended by my sacrilege, I have produced this edition of my Christmas Letter 2018 consisting exclusively of photographs of Lily.

WARNING: Some photographs may contain traces of other creatures inadvertently included in the photograph of the cat

"That's enough! I'm tired ... oh, and Merry Catmas to you all!"

Lily
